JFK Lauds Scientific Advances

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Kennedy depicted his administration's New Frontier scientific program today as a bipartisan approach to the future which would benefit all mankind.

The Democratic President said in a speech prepared for dedication of the Aerospace Medical Health Center at Brooks Air Force Base that the "New Frontiers" slogan which helped him with the presidency in 1960 "is not the exclusive property of either Democrats or Republicans."

"It refers instead," he said, "to this nation's position in history today — to the fact that we stand on the edge of a new era filled with both crises and opportunities, an era to be characterized by both grim challenges and historic achievements."

This unusual bipartisanship on the part of the President seemed to reflect considerable administration worry about what is going on in Texas. The state will cast 25 electoral votes, slightly less than one-tenth of the 270 total Kennedy would need for re-election in 1964.

Riding another plane, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and his wife accompanied the Kennedys to the Lone Star State for a first-hand look at voter reaction to the Kennedy legislative program — including civil rights — and how the President is handling foreign affairs.

The President planned to fly tonight to Houston, where he was scheduled to speak at an "appreciation" dinner for Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex.

In his remarks at the medical center, Kennedy seemed to be answering those in Congress who think too much money is being shot off toward the moon in the space program.

The Senate voted Wednesday to trim $90 million from the program, reducing the total to the $5.1 billion previously approved by the House.

After three days of mingling with Democrats of every stripe, and even a few Republicans, Kennedy can expect to have a more accurate assessment of the reaction of voters in this sprawling segment of the no-longer Solid South to his civil rights proposals, his general legislative program and his handling of world affairs.

The party division over civil rights is illuminated by the fact that Gov. John Connally, who arranged the presidential trip initially, opposes the President's civil rights legislative package.

Johnson and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., who don't agree on much else, support it. This includes the controversial section to enforce desegregation on businesses serving the public. Yarborough is running hard for re-nomination. He suspects Johnson would like to turn

May Have Been on Mission Over Cuba

WU2 Weather Plane Down Off Key West

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Nemesis today found debris tossing in the Gulf of Mexico where a U2 spy plane presumably crashed on Wednesday after a mission over Cuba.

From the location of the debris and an oil slick sighted earlier, Capt. Ernest H. Dunlap, chief of staff to the commander of the Key West Navy Base, said, "We're pretty sure" the debris was part of the U2 wreckage.

The Navy, directing the search for the high-altitude reconnaissance plane, announced that the debris was picked up 40 miles northwest of Key West and 180 miles north of the coast of Communist Cuba.

It was in this same area that the U2 piloted by Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr. of Lagrange, Ga., disappeared.

The Pentagon in Washington said it had nothing to indicate the fate of the pilot. The U2 is a one-man plane.

Road to Recovery

Christine Finds Convalescence Hard to Bear

CLEVELAND (AP) — Christine Simko, battling to face each dawn with a smile, finds her days and nights filled with pain, fitful slumber and anguish.

In the first interview with Christine since her right leg was amputated 11 days ago to halt a cancer, she displayed a variety of moods—each overshadowed by tears.

"I'm so weak," the 14-year-old girl sighed, struggling to adjust her position by grappling for a metal triangle over her bed.

Frustration in reaching the bar brought tears of anger and defeat. They splashed onto the pillow from her gray-blue eyes.

Her mother, Mrs. Lily Simko, who visits daily at her bedside, offered help the girl rejected. Moments later when a Social Service worker tried to adjust a pillow, she cried: "Don't touch me."

Mrs. Simko explained Christine's nerves are still raw and "she can't stand to have anyone touch her bed."

However, during the anguish of waiting for a pill to alleviate the pain, Christine welcomed and clung to the cool hands hospital aides pressed to her hot forehead.

Doctors at Metropolitan General Hospital report the pain and discomfort Christine is enduring is normal. Her crying is "not any more than we have a perfect right to expect," a doctor said.

Christine's bed is surrounded with bouquets of roses, stuffed animals and stacks of comic books. Quilted robes — gifts of friends and strangers — hang on the curtain rack of her bed. After feeling the robes and reading the greeting cards, she lost interest in the gifts.

For Christine is faced with the real problems of her road to recovery. There is the physical therapy department where she has been taken twice. She begged off Wednesday's visit there.

"I was on the tilt table too long," Christine said. "I was so tired when I came back up that I couldn't eat dinner."

The Social Service worker suggested the therapy could be changed to after meals, but Christine shook her head.

"And tomorrow the stitches will be removed," she said with a shudder.

To her mother, who spends long hours at the hospital, Christine "looks old and wan."

"A doctor there said Christine was smiling when he saw her, so why should I be upset," Mrs. Simko said. "But I see my daughter in tears and pain. She gets pills every four hours, but I don't believe she ever gets real sleep."

The mother says she still doesn't understand why the amputation was necessary. She said she had Christine in the hospital in August and September and signed forms for tests but "nothing was one, and the court released her to me."

Mrs. Simko, an English war bride, is divorced from her husband and has supported Christine and a younger son, Michael, with relief payments.

Dr. Robert W. Hopkins, who performed surgery on Christine, said she "has borne up far better than expected under the stress and discomfort of amputation."

"While she is uncomfortable and at times has a peculiar sensation in the leg that isn't there, she has shown remarkable recovery," the doctor said.

He said Christine's pain is "peculiar burning sensations" a little different from most pain.

"How long will it last cannot be said," he added.

BOY CAUGHT STEALING

A 15-year-old N. Ellsworth Ave. youth, who was caught in the act of taking a box of shotgun shells from Sears-Roebuck Co. store on S. Broadway Wednesday at 4 p.m., is scheduled to appear before juvenile authorities Friday.

No Change Seen In U.S. Policy On S. Viet Nam

HONOLULU (AP) — South Viet Nam's change in government won't affect the United States attitude in the troubled Southeast Asia country, the U.S. State Department says.

Reporting on Wednesday's top-level meeting of diplomatic and military officials in Honolulu, Robert Manning assistant secretary of state for public affairs, said the meeting produced no proposals for major changes in U.S. policy in Viet Nam. He said he sees no changes in economic aid "in the foreseeable future."

Congo May Split With Czechs, Soviet Union

Subversion Program Revealed

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Premier Cyrille Adoula is preparing to break diplomatic ties with the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia and expel their diplomats from the Congo, government sources said today.

The sources said Adoula would shortly publish documents, seized from two Soviet diplomats arrested Tuesday, which showed deep involvement of the two Communist countries in subversion in the Congo.

The sources said expulsion letters to the Russians and the Czechs were being readied by the Foreign Ministry. The final decision on when to deliver them is up to Adoula, they added.

Soviet Embassy officials reported that a Russian newspaperman was arrested at his hotel Wednesday night. He was Benik Beknazar - Juzbachev, correspondent of the Soviet Novosti news agency who arrived recently in Leopoldville.

The Soviet officials said they still had received no news of the two diplomats who were dragged from their car and arrested two days ago.

The two, embassy counsellor Boris Voronin and press attache Yuri Miakotnykh, were arrested on their return from Brazzaville, capital of the neighboring Congo Republic, where extremist opponents of the Adoula regime are setting up a "Congolese government in exile."

Chest Drive Inches On Toward Goal

"Were making one last effort to put the drive over the top," Ray Reasbeck, chairman of the 1963 Salem United Fund Drive, said today.

The drive is $2,437 short of its goal of $86,250.

"Our last report will be made next Tuesday at a meeting of the entire campaign committee, and that will be the end of the campaign, win, lose or draw," Reasbeck stated.

The drive was originally scheduled for

Banks Put Checks In Mail

Yule Savings to Total $304,844

A cool $304,844.10 will be shared by Salem Christmas club holders tomorrow after the city's three financial institutions put their checks in the mails this afternoon.

The Christmas club "melon" is $3.69 more than the amount distributed a year ago when the total was $301,225 records show.

Actually, 3,750 club holders will receive checks, representing savings they have accumulated during the past year so that they would have money for holiday gift purchases this season. The banks normally mail their checks the day before Thanksgiving but the holiday is a week later this year.

Most of the money will find its way into stores and businesses as the Christmas shopping season begin in earnest following "turkey day."

The Farmer National Bank reports a distribution of $151,290.10 to 1683 Christmas club holders this year, not counting $46,176 to 576 accounts at its Lisbon branch and $10,491 to 168 persons at its Hanoverton office.

The First National Bank here is mailing checks totaling 114,616 to 1,553 thrifty persons and the Home Savings & Loan Co. is divided $38,938 among 514 club holders.

Each bank reports an increase in Christmas club popularity this year, whereas a year ago total savings was down some from the previous year.

Banks elsewhere around the county are mailing checks to Christmas club holders, most of it to be exchanged for gifts for loved ones during the approaching holiday period.

Ambassador Says Cambodia Is Not Turning on West

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cambodia has not turned its back on the West in asking a termination of American military and economic aid, Ambassador Mong Kimmy said today.

The veteran diplomat said he assured the State Department that Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, has no intention of rushing into the arms of the Communists.

"All we want is to be left alone," Kimmy said in an interview. "Let our friends judge us by the success or failure of our policies."

Board Grants Wood Leave At Leetonia

LEETONIA — Victor Wood, superintendent of Leetonia Exempted Village Schools, was granted a leave of absence for the second semester of the present school year to do work on his doctoral degree at Ohio University when the Board of Education met Wednesday at Orchard Hill School.

George Trombitas, high school principal, will act as superintendent during Wood's absence.

In other business, the board authorized Joe Weikart, a member of council's street lighting commission, to have the Ohio Edison Company install a street light in front of Orchard Hill School.

Permission was granted that children may solicit candy sales for the Booster Club.

The school will participate in a survey conducted by the State Department of Education in Columbiana County to determine whether the county needs a new vocational school.

Members agreed to pay the American Warming and Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — A blonde widow who fell heir to a partnership with Robert G. Baker in ownership of a plush resort motel goes before the Senate Rules Committee today for questioning about his business dealings.

She is Mrs. Gertrude (Trudy) Novak, mother of two and an employee of the Senate Small Business Committee for the last 13 years.

Behind the closed doors of the Rules Committee, Mrs. Novak was to be questioned about the motel venture and other transactions in which Baker had a part.

Baker, 35, resigned as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority after allegations of conflict of interest.

Mrs. Novak's husband, Alfred S. Novak, was Baker's partner in the plush Carousel Motel at Ocean City, Md., that was sold

Panel Rules Against U.S. In Squabble Over Tariffs

GENEVA (AP) — An independent panel has rejected the claim by the United States that it is losing $46 million a year in poultry exports because of the European Common Market's tariff increase, it was reported today.

The five-man panel from Gatt — the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade — reportedly put the annual loss at $26 million.

The Common Market claimed the U.S. loss was $19 million.

Columbiana Board Plans For Cutbacks

COLUMBIANA — The necessity of discontinuing some school services because of the defeat of the three-mill levy in the recent election was discussed when the Columbiana Board of Education met Wednesday.

Several reductions that would have to be made in the school program to reduce expenditures were suggested but the board took no definite action because of the absence of one member, Paul Wilms.

A recount of ballots will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the County Board of Elections office in East Liverpool.

In regular business, the board passed a resolution accepting the amounts and rates as determined by the budget commission annually and authorized necessary tax levies and certified them to the county auditor.

The resignation of Mrs. James Moorehead as a member of the library board was accepted. Mrs. Warren Miller, a kindergarten teacher, was appointed to complete the seven-year term.

Democrats Planning County Convention

Preliminary plans for the county Democratic convention were made at a meeting of the party central and executive committees Wednesday night at the Lisbon headquarters.

The convention committee headed by Atty. Paul Tobin of East Liverpool will meet Dec. 4 to set the date for the convention, expected to be held within the first two weeks of January.

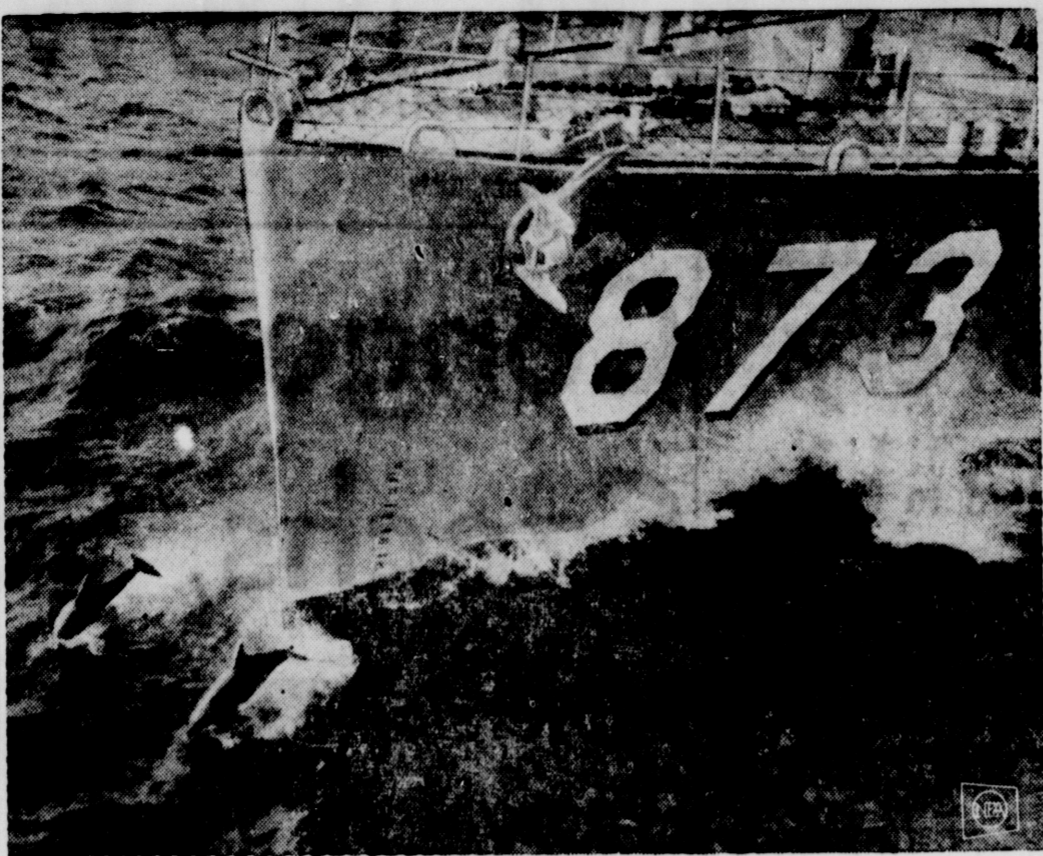

Don R. Gosney, county chairman, was authorized to appoint campaign and finance committees.

Dr. William A. Koloszi of Salem, county coroner, announced he will be a candidate for reelection.

WHITE HOUSE EXPLORER — President Kennedy, working late in his White House office recently wore a slight smile on his face, indicating perhaps he was not completely unaware that his son, John, Jr., was on an exploring expedition under the desk. ## Western Reserve Building Progress Traced For Board

BERLIN CENTER — The external portions of the rising Western Reserve High School should be completed by next week, the Board of Education was told at its meeting Wednesday night.

The Common Market tariff on frozen poultry was raised last year from 4.6 cents a pound to 13.4 cents a pound. The Common Market offered in September to cut it 1.3 cents a pound, but the United States rejected the offer.

The GATT panel's damage figure was based on U.S. trade with West Germany, which took more than 80 per cent of the U.S. poultry exports to the Common Market before the dispute started. The other Common Market members are France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

KSU Center Student Council Is Planned

A group of students at the Salem Academic Center of Kent State University are in the process of organizing a Student Council representing the 120 men and women now enrolled.

Chairman Wayne Harris, an X-ray technician at Salem City Hospital and a KSU student, reported today an organization meeting will be held Friday night at 7 in Room 140 at the Senior High School. He urges all interested students to attend.

STACEY IS CANDIDATE

LISBON — Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana announced today that he will file for his second full term as Clerk of Courts of Columbiana County. He is a Democrat and is finishing up his first four-year term after completing a two-year unexpired term of John Coleman of East Liverpool, deceased.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board increased the hourly tutoring rate for teachers from $3 to $4. The state will pay $3 of the hourly wage while the board will pay the balance.

Furniture and equipment for the new high school were discussed. Supt. Jones said the board hopes to have a list of needed desks, home economics equipment and other materials prepared by early 1964.

Also approved was the outlay of $600 to purchase 175 volumes of fictional and reference books for the library under the program of the Ohio Teachers and Pupils Reading Circle. The books will range from first through 12th grade levels.

Dr. Paul Olson, the board's official delegate to the convention of the Ohio School Boards Association last week, reported on the Columbus meeting.

Soviet Jet Fighters Down Iranian Plane

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Three Soviet jet fighters shot down an unarmed Iranian plane 18 miles inside Iranian territory after it accidentally strayed into the Soviet Union, official government reports said today.

Two aerial survey officials aboard the plane were killed and the pilot was seriously injured.

The plane, on a photographic mission in connection with a land redistribution project in northeast Iran, lost its way Wednesday and flew into Soviet territory, the reports said.

The reports said the Soviet jets ordered the plane to land on a Soviet air strip. The pilot, however, found he was short of fuel and flew back into Iranian territory, the reports added.

The three jets then reportedly followed the Iranian plane and fired on it near Darghaz, in Iran. The plane was reported to have caught fire and exploded in the air.

The plane was downed while Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev was in Iran on an official visit.

News of the incident spread through the Iranian Parliament today as Brezhnev addressed a joint session on improved Iranian-Soviet relations. The president said the Soviet government and people are greatly satisfied with the removal of the "darness" from their relations with the Soviet government.

The downed plane was a twin-engine, piston-driven civilian craft belonging to the Iranian Air Taxi Co.

Although the average specimen there is only 3 or 4 feet long, earthworms grow to a length of 10 feet in Australia.

Butler Twp. Trustees Vouch For Fund

The Butler Township Trustees this week passed a motion certifying that the vouchers and receipts for the cemetery fund are in order.

Clerk Ernest Moser requested the motion after the three trustees studied the stack of receipts and vouchers relating to the cemetery operation to date in 1963. President Donald Cameron, vice president William Hoopes and Albert Althouse unanimously agreed that the clerk's records were in order.

Cameron and Hoopes reported on road scraping operations in their districts of the township.

Althouse said the township garage is being winterized and a chimney installed to permit heating for cold weather maintenance work.

Rev. R. W. Dunn of the Salem Bible College on Woodsdale Rd. was present to request that his road be blacktopped. He also suggested that measures be taken to make the Woodsdale and Depot Rd. intersection safer since "there have been more accidents there in the past 18 months" than anytime since he has been at the Bible school. The trustees promised they would "do what we can". Rev. Dunn expressed gratitude for work the trustees had performed already on Woodsdale.

Bills totaling $1245.66 were approved by the trustees for payment.

It Is Long-Range

Long-range, imaginative, fanciful, visionary, utopian, extravagant, foresightedness, thought-provoking, colossal, preposterous, and realistic.

These and a number of other choice adjectives have been used by Salem citizens in discussions during the past two days of Supt. Paul Smith's recommendations for a projected program of building and curriculum expansions in the Salem public school system.

The public, obviously, is reacting in the light of costs—the expenses of new construction and day to day maintenance of the school system.

Supt. Smith is quick to point out that the report to the Salem Citizens Committee for Better Schools is strictly recommendations for a long-range program, to be carried out if and when the Board of Education approves and if the voters approve the necessary tax levies and or bond issues when the time comes.

There is no immediate project, although a building addition at the Senior High, improvements at the Junior High and replacement of the old Fourth Street elementary school building are being given serious consideration.

There has been no determination on any one project, however. The recommendations in the superintendent's report reflect serious study by the school administration to anticipate future needs and have a definite plan of action ready when the time comes.

Right now the Board of Education finds that funds are insufficient to operate the system without placing a few restrictions here and there to curb costs.

Something Like Golf, Only Better

During his two terms in the White House and during nearly three years since he left office, Dwight D. Eisenhower has been working at his golf swing.

He has had the benefit of many experts as partners. He admits the game is an obsession; he has found it to be one of the great challenges of his life.

Another game must have become an even greater challenge — a game something like golf, only better. Politics.

As the foremost American military commander in Europe in World War II, Gen. Eisenhower was supposed to be a political innocent and he undoubtedly was. His naivete at the outset of the presidential boom in his behalf was incredible. It was hard to believe any man, military or not, could know so little about politics.

NOT UNTIL Sherman Adams was forced out as his presidential assistant did President Eisenhower show even perfunctory interest in partisan leadership. He had run for the presidency and served in the office as a bipartisan leader. It was more than a jest that his most trusted congressional leader was Lyndon B. Johnson, who headed the Democratic Majority in the Senate.

Gov. Romney Learned a Lesson

Whatever hope Michigan Gov. George Romney had for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination was deflated last week by the Legislature.

Members of his own party pricked the balloon by failing to muster a winning vote for a Romney program of fiscal reform that would have brought its author national repute. Three votes made the

The Secret

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the man leading the Republican presidential sweepstakes, revealed the secret of his success last week.

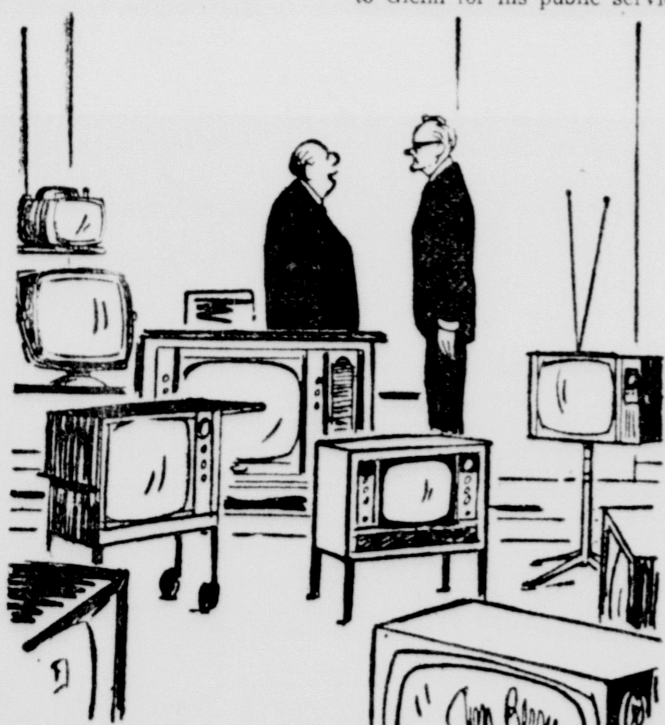

"Why hurry?" he wondered when asked when he was going to become a formal candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. "Things are going all right the way it is."

Things are going all right because what people like most about the uninhibited senator from Arizona is the singular fact he doesn't act like a man brooding about a presidential nomination.

Interest in this possibility is of spontaneous generation. The groups getting behind his possible candidacy to give it a boost will do it more harm than good. They aren't a tenth as attractive as he is.

The Goldwater strength is based on him as a personality, not on his would-be boomers, not on his views. His strength springs from the attractiveness of a man in public life who says what he thinks, who thinks contrary to the conventional political wisdom on a variety of topics and has the grace to back off from himself for a quizzical look occasionally and break out laughing.

All this soon will be obscured by the political razzmatazz that goes with being a serious contender for a presidential nomination. It was wonderful while it lasted, though, and we're glad Sen. Goldwater understands what made it successful. He succeeded because he wasn't trying.

"Sure I'm sellin' TVA. Mr. Goldwater... as long as I can get an exclusive franchise!"

U.S. Labor Belts Russia

By VICTOR RIESEL

Angered by Chairman Khrushchev's deliberate policy of official anti-Semitism, national labor leaders at the AFL-CIO convention took action which could disrupt the U.S.S.R. unless it ends the jailings, torture and executions of those of the Jewish faith trapped behind the Iron Curtain and the concrete Berlin wall.

Victor Riesel

Curtain and the concrete Berlin wall.

This action, if supported by resident Kennedy, could starve the Russians, spread chaos through their faltering industrialism and end discussions of the cultural exchange pact recently stalled by the treatment of Prof. Frederick Barghoorn.

The convention in an action obscured by guest speeches and debates, called on the U.S. government to consider "economic sanctions" against the U.S.S.R. unless the anti-Jewish terror ceases.

There is ample precedent for such a drastic move, the 1,200 labor leaders said in an official declaration.

"In line with the traditional humanitarian policy of our country," the convention spokesman said, "as demonstrated by President William Howard Taft's cancellation of the U.S. trade treaty with czarist Russia in protest against its persecution of the Jews, we urge our government to bring all necessary diplomatic pressure on the Soviet Union and to consider the application of economic sanctions against the U.S.S.R. in order to hasten the end of its anti-Semitic policies and practices."

There is no doubt that this convention action has been fully reported to the Kremlin. The AFL-CIO convention has been under constant Communist surveillance.

First there was Irving Potash, an international Communist agent, who is in the U.S. illegally. He "worked" the press room, got onto the convention floor, collected all statements, and then dispatched summaries to Moscow.

The second Moscow observer was Georgi Kuznetsov, the official New York correspondent for "Trud," publication of the U.S.S.'s "unions." He has, in recent months, filed stories stating that AF-CIO President George Meany, is a "yes-man for Sen. Goldwater." This gives us a capsule view of the state of Soviet journalism.

The labor leaders warned the nation and its leaders in Washington not to trust the Soviet chief.

"Regardless of differences among them," said the convention document, in a reference to the Sino-Soviet dispute, "all Communists maintain that 'peaceful coexistence' is a form of practical class war" . . . The Western democracies must meet the Soviet peaceful co-existence strategy with measures designed to strengthen their national security and the foundations of freedom, to prevent war and preserve world peace."

Since these words come from labor leaders, they are bound to rocket the proletarian blood pressure of Herr Khrushchev.

These words are not merely an exercise in political criticism. They are a call to action. The convention alerted all national unions to "raise their voices" against Soviet anti-Semitism — and to pressure the U.S. government into action.

Debt Juggling

By DAVID LAWRENCE

President Kennedy would not intentionally mislead the American people about the finances of the government of the United States — but unfortunately, some of his speechwriters have given a wrong impression of the way the federal government and private business, respectively, handle their debts.

Mr. Kennedy, in a speech on Monday before the Florida Chamber of Commerce, gave the impression that the federal government is a better "fiscal manager" than private business. He said:

"While the federal net debt was growing less than 20 per cent in these years (1948 to 1962), total corporate debt—not my debt, your debt—was growing by nearly 200 per cent and the total indebtedness of private individuals rose by 300 per cent. So who is the most cautious fiscal manager?"

There is no real parallel. What Mr. Kennedy failed to make clear was that during all this time, while corporations and individuals were increasing their debts, they were also paying off their loans or mortgages or were borrowing money to acquire new assets. The federal government, on the other hand, was borrowing money almost entirely to refund past loans, but not to reduce debt.

During these very years—1948 to 1962—when the total corporate debt was rising by $228 billion, these same corporations earned $291 billion in profits after taxes.

IN CONTRAST, the federal government during that same period had total budget deficits of $41 billion and at the same time added $54 billion to the gross public debt.

No business could borrow money if it did not reduce its past debts out of its surpluses. An increase in corporate debt is based upon the expectation of repayment of this same debt in a specified time. A very small part of any such indebtedness is refinanced without at least a substantial payment on the principal.

But the federal government makes no such curtailment of its principal and keeps on borrowing more and more money, incurring more and more deficits and increasing its total debt.

Any business which attempted to finance itself on the pattern of the federal government would certainly not be able to borrow any money in the capital markets today or at any other time.

Thus, the federal government in fiscal year 1963 piled up a gross borrowing of $227 billion, of which less than $8 billion represented growth in the net debt. The remaining $219 billion was borrowed to refund existing debt.

Corporations, on the other hand, have been paying off a substantial part of their loans and their increased debt represents investment in new projects—new plants and equipment or new enterprises.

IT'S INCORRECT, therefore, to compare corporate financing with that of the federal government and say that the latter is better because it did not increase its debt as much as did economy.

Individuals may incur debt by borrowing to buy their homes, but they earn enough money after expenses to make regular payments on the mortgages and at the same time to buy an automobile and pay for it in two or three years.

Nobody could buy an automobile in 1948 and fail to pay it off by 1962. Yet the federal government has merely borrowed the same amount of money to refund or replace the previous indebtedness, so that the total amount of the 1948 debt remains on the books, plus increased borrowings of $54 billion since 1948.

President Kennedy also gave an erroneous impression when he discussed profits. He has done so on several occasions lately in discussing this subject. He said to the Florida Chamber of Commerce:

"Why is it that profits are at an all-time high in the nation today? It's because the nation as a whole is prospering."

What Mr. Kennedy did not tell the American people is that profits in a realistic sense are way below what they were a few years ago.

Thus, manufacturing corporations from 1955 to 1957—which was an era of sustained economic activity and relatively full employment — earned 5.2 per cent on their sales and 11.7 cents per dollar on their net worth.

BUT SINCE the year 1957 profits of manufacturing corporations have been at relatively depressed levels. For the last six years, they have averaged only 4.5 per cent of sales. This means that profits are 15 per cent below the 5.2 average of the 1955-1957 period.

The profits also have been only 9.3 per cent of net worth, which is down considerably from the 11.7 per cent average of the 1955-1957 period.

It's to be noted that in 1963, after two years of so-called economic recovery, profits are 4.5 per cent of the gross national product. This is only a slight rise from the 4.2 per cent reported in 1961, which was the lowest figure in the period following World War II.

To lay stress on the gross total of profits without regard to whether individual companies are making a satisfactory per cent on their investment is to confuse the issue.

It's like saying that, because there are more people employed today than ever before, America is prosperous. Actually, the unemployment figure is still around 5.5 per cent, and there are many parts of the country called "distressed areas."

It's illogical to boast about the amount of total profit when the actual percentage of profit on sales made remains well below the 1955-1957 average.

Today In History

Today is Thursday, Nov. 21, the 325th day of 1963. There are 40 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1806, Napoleon issued his Berlin decree which declared the British Isles to be in a state of blockade and forbade all trade or correspondence with England. The decree was issued although Napoleon had barely a warship afloat to enforce the order.

On this date: In 1789, North Carolina became the 12th state to ratify the Constitution.

In 1877, Thomas Alva Edison announced he had invented a talking machine.

In 1944, U.S. 7th Army troops captured Saarebourg, the French gateway to the German Saar region.

Ten years ago—Italy agreed in principle to attend a five-power conference aimed at finding a solution to the Trieste problem.

Five years ago—Mel Ott, former New York Giant manager and a baseball Hall of Fame member, died in a New Orleans hospital of injuries received in an automobile accident.

One year ago—The Soviet Union canceled the combat-readiness alert of armed forces imposed at the start of the Cuban crisis.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old girl whose problem probably is shared by millions of teenagers. I refer to parents who have terrible arguments in front of their children.

I once read that arguing is good for people because it allows them to let off steam and release tension for those who are doing the arguing, but it creates tension for kids who have to listen.

I have listened to my parents fight ever since I was old enough to understand words. Their arguments follow a pattern. One will start picking on the other over some trifle. Finally it builds up to a horrible, name-calling battle.

The fight ends when my mother slams the bedroom door and locks it — or my father walks out of the house.

Don't parents realize it is impossible for children to have any respect for them if they don't have any respect for each other?

Please print this letter for the benefit of all the parents in this country who think their arguments are private affairs. Let them know their fights affect everybody within hearing dis-ance. — SHOOK.

Dear Shook: For years I've been crusading against parental fights in the presence of children.

Every couple, no matter how well mated, is bound to hit on differences of opinion. Civilized, mature adults resolve their differences in private. Calling names and hurling insults is destructive and it solves nothing.

I'm delighted you wrote so that parents can see how their bawling looks from the peanut gallery. Many thanks.

Population Reducer

Dear Ann: Several months ago a chemistry student gave my son a test tube filled with crystals that would "take care of" cats.

We always have had a surplus of cats in our neighborhood and their yowling at night is a nuisance but I never could bring myself to use the poison. So I locked the test tube in a chest in the basement.

The other evening I saw a TV show that scared me half to death. The show dealt with poisoning. Now I want more than ever to get rid of that test tube but I don't know how.

If I throw it into the toilet the poison would go through the sewage purifying plant and eventually into the natural waterways. I can't burn it because it may produce deadly fumes. If I hand it over to the police I may get into trouble.

I can't sleep nights because of this problem. If you can help me I'll be forever grateful. — THE SAN FRANCISCO SHAKES.

Dear Shakes: I have checked with my authorities on poisonous chemical substances and they tell me you should give the test tube to any pharmacist. He will dispose of it as he does other poisonous substances.

And in the future don't accept anything for cats which you wouldn't pour over your own breakfast cereal.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

U.S. Living On Borrowed Time In Asia

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — For this country South Viet Nam has been a cork in a bottle, preventing communism from spilling into all the Southeast Asian peninsula. The cork just got tweaked.

Cambodia, next door to Viet Nam, has canceled all American help. It will almost certainly now depend more on Red China, giving communism a foot in the door even wider than Viet Nam.

Cambodia is in the very heart of the peninsula, bordered by Viet Nam, Laos and Thailand. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian leader, has said he is convinced the Communists already have won the battle for Viet Nam and feels his own neutral country will eventually fall to communism.

His attitude and his refusal to accept any more American guns or money are a searing reminder the United States is living on borrowed time in Southeast Asia, and perhaps all Asia.

The Red Chinese, trying to catch up with the 20th century and still lacking nuclear weapons, have so far avoided a showdown with this country in Southeast Asia by not intervening directly.

It can only be a matter of time before the belligerent Chinese feel strong enough to try to drive American power and influence out of Asia altogether.

Meanwhile it can use what is obvious and comes handy, like subversion, various pressures and even local Communist guerrillas to avoid a direct confrontation with this country.

For the United States, which for years had its hands full trying to achieve effective anti-Communist resistance in embattled Viet Nam, the years ahead seem sure to hold more critical, dismal, unhappy days.

Just this week President Kennedy in Florida said the American states must be ready to go to the aid of any Latin-American government requesting help against a Communist takeover.

When this country feels so strongly about preventing communist penetration of this hemisphere, it is not unnatural the Red Chinese feel the same way about Western penetration or interference in Asia.

What can the United States do? What it is doing: trying to bolster anti-Communist or neutral Asian regimes to prevent a Red takeover.

What hope of success can it have in the long run? Probably only this: that perhaps the Red Chinese Communist government will somehow collapse or that, over the intervening years, it can be induced to let its neighbors work out their destiny in their own way. At the moment both seem like forlorn hopes.

A DANCE WITH A Hawaiian theme is being planned by members of the Freshmen Horizon Club for Friday, with dancing to records from 8 to 11 p.m. in the American Legion Hall.

Linda Fenton will be in charge of decorations; Kathy Rutledge, refreshments; Polly Koenreich, records; and Charlene announces that tickets are available from members of the club and a limited number will be sold at the door.

MRS. CARL LINDER presided when the Salem Women's Republican Club met Tuesday in the club's rooms at the Masonic Temple. Miss Lucille Baker offered the invocation.

Mrs. Letha Astry explained the prayer resolution, HJR 705, which is now in committee. She urged all women to write personal letters to their congressmen and senators to try to bring the resolution out of committee and onto the floor for vote.

Miss Mary Lindner, 18th district committeewoman for the Young Republican Club, presented a talk about the district meeting held in Findlay in September. Mrs. Mabel Huston reported on recent precinct work.

A tape recording of a speech given by Congressman Donald Bruce of Indiana at the convention of the National Federation of Republican Women in Chicago in September was heard. Lunch was served with Miss Baker as chairman.

Next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 17.

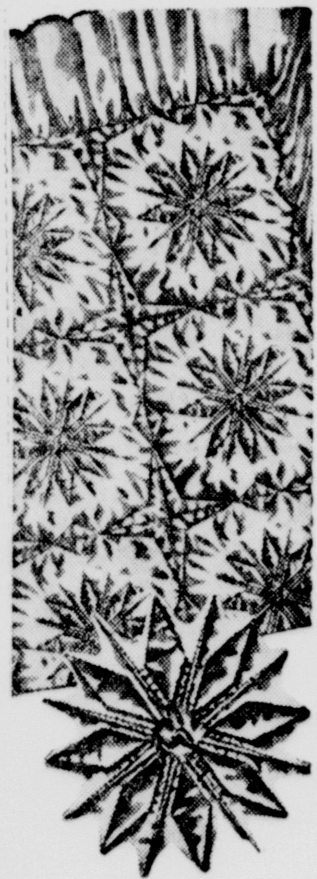

WILLARD F. PIM of RD 2, Salem, celebrated his 75th birthday Sunday with a party attended by 29 members of his family. Guests included his children, Loren Pim of New Albany, Norman Pim of 167 Fair Ave. and Mrs. Esther Shelton of Dade City, Fla., 11 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The group had dinner at Aldom's Restaurant in Alliance. In the evening, Mrs. Norman Pim served refreshments at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pim left Wednesday for Dade City where they will reside until the last of March.

OVER 100 GUESTS were entertained at an open house reception Sunday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bonfert of 1347 E. Pershing St., honoring their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Bonfert.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. William Hochradel and Mrs. James Peters, who comprised the social meeting.

The group will not meet in December and Mrs. Daniel Babb will be hostess at the Jan. 9 meeting in her home at 1555 Southeast Blvd.

MRS. WILLIAM SMITH of N. Ellsworth Ave. entertained es McClaren and Mrs. Alfred Gamble, enjoyed a "behind the camera" tour of a Youngstown television station recently.

Mrs. Franklin Humphrey of RD 1, East Rochester, will entertain the group Monday evening.

Bunker Hill Women Enjoy Program

Mrs. Ivan Snyder and Mrs. Kenneth Gallech were welcomed into membership when the Women's Society of Christian Service of Bunker Hill Methodist Church met recently in the church.

"The First Thanksgiving" was read by Mrs. R. Graden Cook, worship leader. The worship center was arranged by Mrs. Frank Baird, featuring a picture of "praying hands" and a cornucopia typifying "Growth" and Thanksgiving.

Mrs. John Wack, Mrs. Wells O'Hara, Mrs. Gallech and Mrs. Snyder portrayed "Indians" and "Pilgrims" seated around the feast table as a tableaux while Mrs. Norman Summers read the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Film strips of the four seasons of the year were shown by Mrs. Alfred Martig as Mrs. Summers related the many things Americans should be thankful for during each season.

Mrs. Alfred Martig presided at the business session and announced the group had been invited by the Winona Woman's Society of Christian Service to attend its meeting Dec. 2.

Lunch was served to the 29 in attendance by Mrs. Robert Maurer and Mrs. Una Hancock, hostesses.

The program committee will be in charge of the next meeting Dec. 12 at the church when a covered dinner will be featured and members will have a 50 cent gift exchange.

Hofmeister-Ward Vows to Be Heard

Mr. and Mrs. John Falk Jr. of 449 Aetna St. are announcing the coming marriage of their daughter, Nancy Ann Hofmeister, to George Ward Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ward of Sebring.

The couple will be married Friday at the Church of God at Alliance.

The bride-elect is employed by the Eagles Bakery at Alliance and her fiancé is employed by the Pressweld Company at Sebring.

DAR Enjoys Historical Music Event

Marshall Price Bailey was guest artist when members of the Phoebe Fraunces Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and their guests met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Frederick S. Barchhoff Jr. of E. State St., under sponsorship of the American Heritage Committee.

"With Resolute Heart and Faithful" was the theme of Mr. Marshall's program. Presiding at the organ he played "Laban", "Fortitude", and dual tunes, "Webb" and "Geibel", introducing each number with a biographical sketch of the composer and gave the origin of the tune.

The program theme flowed from music to poetry with Mr. Bailey reciting six inspirational selections and, then turning to the piano he traced in music the history of America from the arrival of the Mayflower to the winning of the west, playing MacDowell's "A.D. 1620," "To the Sea," "In Deep Woods," "From a Log Cabin," "From Puritan Days," Opus 29, number 4; and concluding with Demarest's joyous organ music, "Thanksgiving."

Mr. Bailey is organist at the First United Presbyterian Church where an organ built by Carl Barchhoff, grandfather of the hostess' husband, is installed.

Arrangements of red and gold mums complimented the antique silver service at the tea table where Mrs. Charles F. Oertel Jr. and Mrs. Michael Schuller presided.

At the business portion of the meeting Mrs. Victor C. Ballenger presided. Correspondence was read by Mrs. Jack F. Herstrom, and Mrs. Schuller paid tribute to the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address and the anniversary of the signing of the Mayflower Compact.

Mrs. Herbert Spielman was welcomed into membership.

Mrs. Kenneth S. Fleming of Canfield was a special guest.

CAP PLANS 'TAG DAY'

Members of Squadron 1302, Civil Air Patrol, will have a tag day in the downtown business district Friday and Saturday.

The mint julep is said to be a variation of ancient Arabic and Persian drinks called julab and gulab, which were made with rose water and alcohol.

K. of C. Breakfast Speaker Is Heard

Urban Lepping served as toastmaster when 108 district members of the Knights of Columbus gathered in St. Paul's Auditorium for breakfast Sunday following a 7:15 a.m. Mass in the church.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Robert Hagan of Girard, who gave a humorous talk of the everyday problems confronting him and Mrs. Hagan as parents of 14 children.

Special guests were Rev. J. Richard Gaffney, Rev. Kevin Coleman, and grand knights, Thomas Frazier of Leetonia, Hugh Taylor of Sebring and Hobart White of Alliance.

Frank Dauria was chairman in charge of arrangements for the annual event.

Officers Are Named By Cosmetologists

Miss Mary Eileen Hagan was elected president of the Salem Unit 20 of the Ohio Cosmetologist Assn. when that group met Monday evening at Timberlanes.

Mrs. Richard Mossey presided and also elected were the following: First vice president, Mrs. Mossey; second vice president, Mrs. Elwood Sanor; recording secretary, Mrs. Jack Henry; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Curtis Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. Edward Scheuring; reporter, Mrs. Paul Ritchie; historian, Mrs. Rose Drakulich, and trustees, Mrs. Lawrence Kaercher, Mrs. Frank Early and Mrs. John McConnor. Officers will be installed at the Dec. 16 meeting when the unit will have its annual Christmas banquet at Timberlanes.

During the program period slides of the latest hair styles were shown by Mrs. Kaercher, member of the official hair fashion committee.

Travelers Hear Talks on Theater, Shakespeare

England was the locale for the study topic, continuing the theme of "Performing Arts Around the World," when members of the Travelers Club met Tuesday afternoon at the Ruth Smucker House.

"Shakespeare of London" was the title of a talk by Mrs. David Cope who discussed his early writings and acting and his impact on the theatre of the late 16th and early 17th centuries. Mrs. Harry Krohne presented a paper, "Box, Pit and Gallery," in which she described the English theatre of the 18th century and the effect upon it of the changing social structure of England.

Following the program, Mrs. G. Ramsden Deming and Miss Helen French presided at the lace covered tea table which was highlighted with an arrangement of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and silver candelabra holding green candles. Mrs. M. H. Mawhinney was chairman of the tea committee, assisted by Mrs. Samuel C. Chessman, Mrs. Deming, Miss French, Mrs. Jack Harroff, Mrs. Orval Hoover and Mrs. L. C. Metzger.

The club will meet again Dec. 3 at 2:15 p.m. in the Smucker House.

Medical Auxiliary Tea Is Enjoyed

Mrs. Leonard Pritchard and Mrs. Virgil Hart presided at the tea and coffee services when members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Columbiana County Medical Society held a tea Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Peter Cibula of Lisbon.

Mrs. Leonard Pritchard presided and American Medical Education and Research Foundation and Nurses Scholarship funds were reviewed and program books distributed. Members are to make their own program covers which will be judged for originality at the January meeting.

The tea table was laid with a green linen cloth with a harvest arrangement of bronze mums and grapes flanked by yellow tapers in milk glass holders as a center attraction. Mrs. Wade Bacon was co-hostess.

The auxiliary will have their annual Christmas dinner party Dec. 15 at 6:30 p.m. at the Valley Golf Club near Columbiana. The committee in charge of arrangements for the event are Mrs. Lee Bookwalter, Mrs. Paul Conrad, Mrs. Eugene Mueller, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Cibula and Mrs. Bacon.

Book Club Marks Husband's Night

Mrs. Guy E. Byers reviewed the book, "Be My Guest," by Conrad Hilton when the Book Club celebrated "Husband's Night" Monday evening with a dinner at the First Methodist Church.

Places for 50 were set at a U-shaped table festooned with tendrils of ivy splashed with colorful autumn leaves and cornucopias spilling seasonal fruits, berries and gourds interspersed intermittently. Yellow tapers in crystal holders lent a mellow glow to the decor.

Following the dinner Mrs. Harry Snyder read a poem on freedom and welcomed members and their guests.

Hawaiian guitar music was presented by Tyrus Swartz. The club will meet again at 1:45 p.m. Dec. 2 at the Ruth Smucker House.

Willow Grove Party

A "good-time" party in charge of the youth committee, with William Sanor as chairman, will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday when members of Willow Grove Grange meet at the grange hall. Round and square dancing will be the entertainment and refreshments will be served. The public is invited to attend.

PTA Meetings

2,000 Attend Fair

Approximately 2,000 attended the "Pilgrim Rock" Fair Saturday evening at Fourth Street School held under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teacher Organization.

An Indian teepee before a painting of the "rock" faced those arriving by the front entrance. Members of the committee were in Indian and Pilgrim costumes and circulated through the crowd during the evening.

A large replica of the Plymouth Rock with a painted backdrop of a Pilgrim scene decorated the stage of the gymnasium where different groups of musicians entertained the crowd all evening.

Goodies and gifts were offered at bazaar booths in each of the class rooms and "Indian Givers" in costume, Mrs. Donald Beery, Jack Pryor, Alton Neumann and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fidoe, mingled with the crowd dispensing small treats to the smaller children.

A cafeteria meal was served in the gym under the direction of Mrs. Forest Shinn.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kersmarki were chairmen in charge of the arrangements for the event.

Marriage Licenses

Vern Swinehart, 50, heavy equipment operator, Pittsburgh, and Wanda Keats, 29, housewife, Lisbon.

Leetonia Council Told Of Fund Transfer Plan

LEETONIA — Solicitor Edward Greenmyer, after having participated in a meeting with the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs, reported at Wednesday's village council meeting that at the board's Dec. 1 meeting, it will transfer into a bond reserve account, as requested by the First National Bank of Cincinnati, approximately $6,000 from the water and sewer funds.

The funds will be invested by the bank at the authority of Miss DeErla Smith, village treasurer, at the rate of four per cent, which will bring in $240 per year as interest.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, discussion was held on the matter of purchasing a used truck from Salem Township at a cost of $850. The 1956 model vehicle has a snowplow which can be attached, which will run an additional $75. The street commission, of which five councilmen are members, was given authority to investigate the truck and make recommendations about its purchase.

Plane

another plane spotted an oil slick in the area.

Three Navy air-sea rescue planes joined in the search.

SAC called the plane a WU2, but a Defense Department spokesman said that was only the designation for a weather plane version of the spy planes that are still flying over Cuba to keep guard against reintroduction of Soviet missiles in Cuba.

Search for the plane was being directed at Key West by the commander of Navy forces there.

The plane was piloted by Capt. Joe G. Hyde Jr., 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Hyde Sr., of Lagrange, Ga. His wife is the former Marianne Gerdes of Leland, Miss.

SAC said the plane disappeared from land-based radar scopes at 10:32 a.m. Eastern Standard Time. The disappearance was made public about nine hours later.

The only WU2 unit assigned to SAC is the 4080th, operating out of Davis-Monthan AFB, Tucson.

Only last month — on the anniversary of the U.S.-Soviet Cuban crisis — it was disclosed that the high — soaring glider-like U2s were still flying reconnaissance missions over Cuba.

It was photographs taken by U2s which first showed definitely that the Soviet Union was setting up offensive missile bases on the island.

The U2 broke into the news with international impact in May 1960 when U.S. U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers was downed over Russia and imprisoned 21 months.

Firemen Save Barn From Threat of Fire

The Winona-Butler Volunteer Fire Department responded to a call at 10:35 a.m. Tuesday to the farm of William Howells of Woodsdale Road, where a pile of burning brush from the roadside being cleared by the Butler Township road employees, spread and threatened his barn.

The fire was quickly extinguished, with negligible damage to the property.

was present and submitted a bid of $900 for a new heating system in Village Hall. The bid includes new boiler, new line, wiring and a thermostat. The present radiators would be used.

Council will have a special meeting Nov. 29 to decide whether or not to have the system installed. The matter is in committee for recommendation of purchase at the present time.

COUNCILMAN CHESTER Whitacre voiced a complaint from some Leetonia residents in various districts of town who stated that several residents have bought ponies and are pasturing them in their back yards. Mayor Ralph Kennedy has called in a sanitarian from the County Board of Health to investigate the situation.

Councilman Joe Weikart will contact the board of education, answering the group's request for a street light in front of Orchard Hill School. Council agreed that, since the area is just outside the village limits, the village will have the light installed and will be reimbursed for the expense by the board.

It was decided to cover the parking meters for the Christmas shopping season Dec. 2 to 25.

IN ANSWER TO a question about the water situation in Leetonia, Mayor Kennedy replied that it is excellent. The reservoir has been kept full and several leaks have been corrected.

The Board of Trustees of Public Affairs can now account for all but 2,000 gallons of the total amount pumped daily, which is considered excellent.

A communication had been received from the office of the Army engineers at Pittsburgh stating that one of its representatives had inspected the flood control project and found that it was being kept in very excellent condition.

Present at the session was Homer Kridler, councilman-elect, who was welcomed by Mayor Kennedy.

Bills of $5,549.50 were approved to be paid.

PERSONS INTERESTED in the Leetonia adult educational program who have not yet registered are urged to do so Monday and Tuesday at the high school between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. or 7 to 9 p.m.

If more convenient, the applicant may send a post card with the course title, his name, address, and telephone number to Don Hoover at Leetonia High School.

Courses to be offered are: Speed reading and better English, English workshop, algebra, tailoring, beginning sewing, conversational French, art appreciation, serigraphy (silk screen printing), architectural drawing, men's physical education, trimness for fitness (women), beginning typing, Typing II, general business, beginning shorthand, driver education and principles of investments.

If additional information is needed, brochures have been placed in post offices, banks and other business establishments of the community.

AMONG THE 1964 officers of the Leetonia Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, installed at ceremonies Monday evening in the Masonic Temple, was Mrs. Helen Kennedy who will serve as worthy matron during the coming year.

Reasbeck said that $83,813 has been collected to date and that letters asking for additional donations have been sent to 160 of the community's leading business firms and citizens.

The total amount collected in the drive will be divided among 14 "red feather" organizations and the Red Cross.

Congo

Wednesday night examined documents taken from the two Russians. Well-informed sources said they included letters from Christophe Gbenye, leader of the extreme nationalist followers of the late Patrice Lumumba.

These sources said the letters included a request for five billion Congo francs — about $27 million — in counterfeit bills to be used to destroy confidence in the Congo's currency.

Another letter reportedly asked the Russians to investigate links between Communist China and followers of former Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga, whose separatist regime in Stanleyville had Soviet support and recognition.

Bbenye and several Gizengist leaders are among the Congolese politicians who have sought the protection of Brazzaville's left-leaning provisional government.

Miakotnykh, who has been extremely active in extremist circles, was known to have been in recent contact with Gbenye in Brazzaville, well-informed circles said.

Green School Board Meeting Set Tonight

earlier this year to the Serv-U Vending Co., a vending machine firm with which Baker had dealings.

Novak died in March 1962, his death ruled a suicide, and his widow inherited his partnership.

Mrs. Novak told a reporter her husband's death came after "two years of turmoil that started with his interest in that motel. . . It's just been one thing after another."

The motel opened a party which drew Washington figures, including Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, but apparently fizzled financially under the Baker-Novak management.

Committee investigators were reported to have questioned Wednesday the man who blew the whistle on Baker — Ralph L. Hill.

Hill is chairman of the Capital Vending Machine Co. and plaintiff in a civil suit charging Baker and associates used improper influence to cancel a vending machine contract in favor of another firm.

His suit is what brought to public notice Baker's wheeling and dealing, and ultimately brought about Baker's resignation from his $19,600 a year state job.

Hill was questioned in secret four hours not only about the vending machine case but about other of Baker's business and financial dealings.

With Patients

Manzie May Be Disqualified In New Waterford Elections

The Columbiana County Election Board was to meet in special session this afternoon to rule on the status of a man who was elected to a New Waterford village post with write-in votes at the Nov. 5 general election, but may be disqualified because he failed to file a sworn statement of campaign expenses after running for a council seat in 1959.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Defense Secretary Robert S. Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam; Gen. Maxwell Taylor, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Maj. Gen. Paul D. Harkins, head of the U.S. military advisory group in Viet Nam; Adm. Harry D. Felt, Pacific military commander, and other top-drawer civilian and military officials from Saigon, Washington, D.C., and Honolulu.

McNamara left Wednesday night for Washington immediately after the meeting to report to President Kennedy.

Manning's report described the day-long sessions as "more of a discussion than an arrival at a full set of finished decisions."

He said the conference produced "the raw material for recommendations" to be made to the President when McNamara, Rusk and Lodge arrive in Washington.

Rusk's return will be delayed by a visit with five other Cabinet members to Japan. Lodge is expected to confer with the President after his return to Washington Friday.

A statement on the conference by Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public information said in part: "In general, information received at the conference indicates an encouraging outlook for the principle of joint U.S.-Vietnamese policy in South Viet Nam — that is, the successful prosecution of the war against the Viet Cong Communists."

While he was seeing McNamara off Adm. Felt was asked if the phrase "successful prosecution of the war" meant a speedup in activity against the Communist North Vietnamese.

"We hope there is a speedup. There is no reason why there should not be," Felt replied.

Drunken Driver At Lisbon Fined $150

LISBON — Lloyd Keith McCaughin, 24, of 437 W. Washington St., was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail Wednesday by Mayor Dean Stockman for driving while intoxicated.

McCaughin was cited after he struck a parked car on E. Washington St., just east of Exchange St. The parked car was owned by Donald Tanner and police listed total loss to both cars after the accident.

Leetonia - Open Fri., Sat. Till 9

The candidate is Corum Manzie, apparently named a member of the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs in New Waterford when voters wrote his name into a blank ballot spot.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said the board will investigate a report that Manzie did not file the required statement of campaign receipts and expenses when he lost a contest for a council seat in 1959.

He pointed out that state law says an aspirant who fails to file the report is disqualified from seeking public office for the next five years.

Among other things, the board must make a final determination whether the write-in candidate is the same person who ran for Council in 1959.

The Council candidate's name the facts behind the case, it will C. William Manzie.

Once the board determines the facts behind the case, it will rule on Manzie's status in connection with the Nov. 5 election.

If the board determines that he was the same person who ran for council in 1959 and did not file an expense report, state law will make it impossible for the board to issue him a certificate of election.

was staying and was told Domer was from Cleveland.

"Riddle talked about how unhappy he was with Akron and that he wanted to leave the city," Domer said.

The defendant said Riddle asked him if he could "ride with me to the Ohio Turnpike." Domer said that near the Turnpike Riddle asked if he could stay with Domer at the motel where the latter was staying until the rain stopped.

Domer said they went to a motel near Strongsville, watched television a while and went to Wooster to get something to eat.

At this point, the court recessed for the day.

JFK

How much the civil rights push will affect the Kennedy-Johnson ticket in Texas next year remains, a large and unanswered question. Texas has only slightly less than one-tenth of the 270 electoral votes the President needs to win re-election. He carried the state by only 46,000 of 2.3 million votes in 1960.

The term "fine arts" is used for those arts, such as sculpture, painting and music, which are intended primarily to affect the emotions and to give an exalted kind of pleasure as distinguished from the "useful arts" which serve the physical needs.

strife in Laos while in Cambodia they see we have peace."

Kimmy has represented his country here for 11 years and played leading roles in the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina and the 1961-62 Geneva conference which established the neutrality of Laos.

Sihanouk has no plan to ask for military aid from Communist China, Kimmy said, but Peking may be asked to send "a few technical experts — not military."

"In our agreement on military aid with the United States there is a provision that Cambodia must not receive aid from any of the Socialist countries," the ambassador said. "In point of fact, this meant we were not neutral."

For this reason, he said Sihanouk has decided he would not ask for Peking's military assistance because such an appeal "means that Cambodia would then become a satellite of the Soviet bloc."

The United States, in a swift reply to Sihanouk's request for termination of U.S. aid, agreed to undertake talks at once on an orderly withdrawal of U.S. economic and military aid missions.

Kimmy said the talks will determine details of the withdrawal which must be completed within six months for the military program.

FICTION

THE AGING BOY by Julian Claman. This is not at all a pleasant story, but it is at times one which holds the interest tautly. A middle-aged man reviews his past - the debacle which left him penniless, his rise to wealth from a modest beginning, his awakening in the hut of a migrant worker and then the story of how his life really began after that - with all that had gone before only a preface.

MONTENEGRO by Milovan Djilas. Djilas wrote this in prison, after being expelled from the top ranks of the Yugoslav government. It is part history and part fiction, part reality and part legend. Because of the great interest that his earlier books have aroused, many people will want to read this first one to be written in novel form.

THE GREAT AUK by Allan W. Eckert. The life story of the last few remaining birds of a species needlessly extinct because of the carelessness and cruelty of man. The tale is remarkably well told and holds the interest as well as the story of the three animals in The Incredible Journey. Flightless, the whole colony of auks migrate by swimming along the coast in the sea, we learn every other detail of their lives also, and of the way they met their end.

ONE MILLION DEAD by Jose Maria Gironella. This is a continuation of the trilogy begun with The Cypresses Believe In God. It takes the Alvear family through the three years of the Spanish Civil War, 1936 - 1939. It is entirely possible to enjoy this novel without having read the first, but many of the same characters occur in both.

THE GLORY AND THE DREAM by F. W. Kenyon. The story of John Churchill, first Duke of Marlborough, and his wife Sarah told in fiction form. These two people were very influential in England, and Sarah was sometimes referred to as "Queen Sarah", especially during a portion of the reign of Queen Anne. Some reviewers feel that this author has not done them justice.

A LADY AND TWO WOMEN by Iris Lessing. A collection of short stories by a woman who is considered by some critics to be the best English writer of today. Some of the episodes will be much too frank for some tastes, but all are well written.

IDIOS FIRST by Bernard Malamud. Another book of short stories these are all of the off-beat type and might be considered funny as well as tragic but always true to humanity.

THIS COMPANY OF MEN by William Pearson. Still another novel about a power struggle among the top brass of a large corporation, this is quite well planned and has an ingenious twist to the plot.

NON-FICTION
OXFORD BIBLE ATLAS edited by Herbert G. May. So much excavation has been done

NEW KIND OF U.S. PRISON - The layout of the new federal maximum security prison, which will open next April near Marion, Ill., represents a departure in designs, without stone walls, and in treatment. (1) administration building; (2) chapel (circular building), mess hall, auditorium complex; (3) vocational training area, shops; (4) cell blocks; (5) library; (6) classrooms, hospital, maximum punishment cells (below ground); (7) outdoor recreation area; (8) heating plant, coal storage; (9) water tower (tall) and water storage tanks; (10) gun tower; (11) ground entry control point.

in Bible lands during the past ten or twenty years that Bible atlases today are far different than fifteen years or so ago. This one, although inexpensive ($4.95) has good maps, diagrams of cities, and the text includes recent finds.

RED CHINA PRISONER by Sara Perkins. Miss Perkins was a missionary in China since before World War II. Here she tells the details of more than four years imprisonment by the Red Chinese.

AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF THE SUPREME COURT by Alan F. Westin (Editor). Here, in the words of the Justices themselves, is the long history of the Supreme Court. Here is commentary by the editor between the excerpts from the Justices writing to make the history hang together, so to speak.

WOMEN IN MYH AND HISTORY by Vileta Miqueli. This is a short review of the position of women from the past into the present in quite a few countries of the world.

A SURVEY OF THE MOON by Patrick Moore. One of Britain's most outstanding astronomers presents what is currently known about the moon along with what the scientists believe about it. Here are many illustrations and drawings to supplement the text.

THE SUN AND THE AMATEUR ASTRONOMER by W. M. Baxter. This shows a would-be astronomer how to go about studying the sun. It is done with a minimum of mathematics and a maximum of clear explanation. Mr. Baxter is an amateur himself but is much respected as an observer of the sun.

COMPLETE BOOK OF DESSERTS by Ann Seranne. There are 357 pages crammed with recipes for desserts—from the simplest to the most complex. The author is a well-known author of cookbooks and manager of a business dealing with foods.

BURGESS AND MACLEAN by Anthony Purdy and Douglas Sutherland. The authors describe the backgrounds and early lives as well as the careers of the two Foreign Office employees in Britain who defected to Russia.

YOUR CHILD by Dorothy Noyes Sproul. The author has compressed a great deal of material into a small space in presenting the child from infancy to maturity. She has made up tables, and condensed advice into outlines.

HARPER'S DICTIONARY OF THE GRAPHIC ARTS by Edward M. Allen. Over sixty five hundred terms of the profession are defined and methods and processes are explained.

THE RING OF WORDS by Philip L. Miller. There are the original words and the translations of over three hundred famous art songs from European countries in this book. There is no music.

DOSTOEVSKY by David Magarshack. This is considered the best biography of the tortured man who was at once a genius and a person incapable of managing his own life, who ran the gamut of human experience himself and gave us characters from just as wide a range.

TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS

by Brooks Atkinson. Since retiring as Drama Critic of the New York Times in 1960, Mr. Atkinson has written a twice-a-week column for that paper. One hundred and two of those essays have been collected in this book. They make enjoyable reading—the kind one would dip into now and again, some are worth reading more than once.

THE FEDERAL INVESTIGATORS by Miriam Ottenberg. Miss Ottenberg won a Pulitzer Prize in 1960 for a series of articles exposing the unscrupulous practices of used-car dealers in Washington, D.C. She has probably many other shady practices and often been the reason for corrective legislation. Here she explains the work of Federal investigators and re-tells many exciting cases.

DOWN on the FARM

Plots To Be Harvested

The field corn variety trial plots being conducted on Firestone Farms, Columbiana RD 1, will be harvested Friday, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Approximately 50 corn varieties are in the trial, most of which are commonly being grown in the Columbiana County area.

Lewis Saboe, agronomist working with crop varieties at Ohio State University, will be present to make observations and assist in the yield harvesting procedure.

Anyone interested is welcome to observe the harvesting of the plots anytime during the day, Myers said.

Homer Althouses Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Althouse of RD Salem will be representing DCSA District "E" at the Young Cooperators session of the annual meeting of the National Milk Producers Federation Dec. 8 through 12 in Miami, Fla., according to C. A.

Houlette of Columbiana, DCSA director.

Mrs. Vern Wehr serves as ladies auxiliary representative.

The Althouses were chosen to receive this honor as a result of their participation in the Dairyman's Co-Operative Sales Association Young Farmers contest sponsored by the Association's Ladies Auxiliary. In attending this convention the Althouses will have the opportunity to participate in sessions on milk marketing, learn about dairy legislative programs and discuss dairy marketing problems with representatives of other dairy producing areas of the United States.

Homer, in partnership with his brother, operates a 400-acre dairy farm near Salem.

District "E" of the DCSA is comprised of members living in Columbiana and Mahoning Counties, with a few in Stark, Carroll and Portage Counties. The Association has 5,000 member producers in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia, supplying most of the milk to consumers in the cities and towns of the tri-state area.

Objectives of the Young Farmers Program is to develop an understanding among young members of the objectives and problems of a milk marketing organization and to develop agricultural leaders.

Dr. Garth A. Cahoon has been appointed associate professor of horticulture at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster, effective Dec. 1.

Dr. Roy M. Kottman, station director, said Dr. Cahoon will work in the area of mineral nutrition of various tree fruits, including apples and pears. He will also be responsible for grape research in Ohio. He fills the vacancy created by the promotion of Dr. James M. Beattie to assistant director.

For the past six years, Dr. Cahoon has been assistant professor of horticulture at the University of California, Riverside branch, working on problems of citrus nutrition and irrigation. He holds the B.S. degree from Utah State University and the Ph.D. degree from the University of California, Los Angeles branch.

Sees Better Hog Prices

Hog prices may weaken a little during the next few weeks, but price prospects for the first few months of 1964 are somewhat brighter than in the same period of 1963, forecasts Gene A. Futrell, Ohio State University extension economist in marketing and outlook.

Futrell bases his prediction on the assumption that hog marketings will continue heavy through November and December, a period when pigs farrowed in April and May will be going to market. Number of pigs farrowed in April and May was 5 per cent higher than in the corresponding period a year earlier.

The Sept. 1 quarterly pig report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture prompts Futrell to predict higher prices early next year. June-August farrowings in the 10 major hog producing states were up 2 per cent from a year earlier, but all of this increase was in the June-July period. August farrowings were down 9 per cent and September-November farrowing intentions were down 3 per cent from those of a year ago.

"Pigs farrowed from August through November," Futrell says, "will provide the bulk of the hogs marketed for slaughter during the March-June period. If actual farrowings nationally show the same decline as those in the 10 major producing states, prospects are somewhat brighter for the late winter and early spring market than they were a year ago."

Futrell notes that hog prices in March and April this year ranged from $13.50 to $14.50 a hundredweight.

So many bank checks are written by Americans that it would take a stack of wood 25 miles high and four feet by eight feet to produce the supply of 15 billion checks for one year.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
How to Combat Diaper Rash

Does your baby have a diaper rash? Although this condition may occur in any season, it is seen more often in the colder months when the baby is excessively bundled up.

Some babies even have it when they come home from the hospital. This is not a sign of negligence, but it indicates that the baby has unusually tender skin and will require special care.

The rash may be a uniform redness of the skin limited to the diaper area or a number of small red spots that are raised above the surface and may be so thick in places that they run together. If they become infected or if eczema is also present, pustules or whiteheads may develop.

SEVERAL THINGS may cause the rash. Diapers of coarse material may irritate the skin. Diapers from which all the soap has not been rinsed are frequent causes.

The chief cause, however, is allowing the diaper to remain unchanged for two or three hours after wetting or soiling. Excessive perspiration from too much clothing or too warm a room is often an added factor.

Because the diapers of these babies often have an ammoniacal odor, some mothers believe that something in the baby's diet is causing him to pass ammonia in the urine but this is not the case. An otherwise harmless germ in the intestinal tract readily contaminates the diapers and acts on the urine to form ammonia after it is passed. A high concentration of ammonia irritates the moist skin.

Many preparations have been used to rid the diapers of these germs. If the rash is mild it will clear up promptly if these germs are eliminated. Boiling the diapers, then rinsing them in an antiseptic solution usually works well.

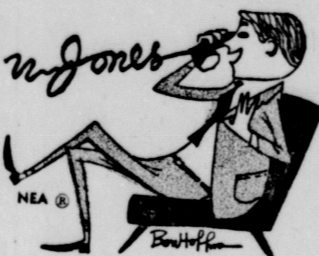

BORIC ACID, once popular as a rinse, can be absorbed by the skin and cause poisoning, so its use for this purpose has been abandoned.

A solution of bichloride of mercury is very effective but because accidental poisoning from this substance may occur, a safer product is preferred. One such product is methylbenzoniun chloride (Diaparene) which is available as a diaper rinse, an ointment and a dusting powder. This or a similar preparation is used routinely by all diaper services.

IF THE RASH IS severe, the affected skin should be covered with zinc oxide ointment or Lassar's paste. But if whiteheads are present it is better to let the baby sleep in a warm room with a diaper under him

Mind Your Manners

If you recognize the voice that answers the phone, say who you are at once.

Most babies have a touch of diaper rash at one time or another, and in many babies, after it clears up, it comes back. This problem, often a great annoyance to mothers, can be licked but only through determination and vigilance.

'That War In Korea' Was Realistic Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—It looked like a war and 54,000 Americans died in it, but the fighting in Korea was called a limited or police action.

For 90 minutes Wednesday night NBC's "Project 20" production of "That War In Korea" recalled the inconclusive struggle against the communists in the terrible terrain and tough climate of Korea.

The precise narration and the film were blended carefully to explain the background, recalling the defeats, the suffering and the victories between June 1950 and the ceasefire 10 years ago. And it showed pictures of American soldiers today still patrolling the border between South Korea and the Communist north.

It was a fine documentary about war that was not a war followed by a peace that is not a peace.

NBC followed the program with another story about Communist conflict. This was a rather off-beat drama of the "Espionage" series. The scene was set 10 years in the future, and the plot hunt on an action by U.S. CIA agents who deliberately undermined the government of an African nation whose leader is a Marxist.

The play was a muddled, static affair consisting mostly of long impassioned speeches on truth, idealism and integrity by a crusading columnist and a statesman-like U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

I'm not sure, but I think truth, idealism and integrity lost out to the necessity of keeping the nation from getting into Communist hands.

NBC and the Revue Studios started production in Hollywood this week on what the network calls the first full-length film feature ever made expressly for television—a two-hour action story, "Johnny North," designed to be one of a weekly anthology series next season.

The expensive shows will be written to accommodate interruptions for commercials and

Two young Salem singers, a piano-dance team and four other district performers will be among 29 acts in the youth talent show Friday night at Beaver Local High School.

Local performers in the entertainment will be Cindy Wolfe and Marjorie Marks of Salem; Robert and Margaret DeMart, dance and piano act, also of Salem; Diane Less, Greenford singer; Andy Mellon, Lisbon saxophonist; Karen Rupert, New Waterford acrobat; and Connie Tipton and Penny Perrin, Columbiana baton team.

The 29 acts were sifted out from among 50 by a panel of three judges. Trophies will be presented to winners.

Elks Inspection Set For Tonight

Salem Lodge, B.P.O. Elks, will hold its annual inspection tonight at the lodge home, with Harold Parker, inspecting officer, in charge.

Parker, a member of the Salem Lodge, was appointed last July at the national convention at San Francisco to inspect the 13 lodges of the Northeast South District of Ohio and these inspections will be completed with the ceremony tonight.

Parker, an employee at the Electric Furnace Co., has been a member of Salem Elks Lodge since 1950. He served as ruler of the Salem Lodge in 1957-58 and is a trustee and ritual chairman. He was granted his life membership in 1961.

Joseph Pasco, ruler of the Salem Lodge, announced that the class of candidates to be initiated tonight will be known as the "Harold Parker Class". About one hundred guests from other lodges are expected. A dinner at 6:30 p.m. is scheduled, with the lodge session slated at 8.

'Singspiration' Is Set At Columbiana Church

COLUMBIANA — The Christmas "Singspiration," sponsored annually by the Golden Link Class of the Grace United Church of Christ, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 1 in the church sanctuary.

One of the highlights of the "Singspiration" this year will be the Bell Ringers from the United Church of Christ in Austintown.

The public is invited. The free will offering received is used by the class to purchase gifts for each resident of the County Home at Lisbon.

Vivian Rumer is teacher of the class.

Columbiana Republican Women's Club will observe its 25th anniversary at a meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday, in the high school urged to attend this special observance.

Starting with a membership of 12 persons in 1938, the club has steadily grown until it now has a total membership of over 300 persons.

Speaker for the evening will be Mrs. David Dennison, representative of the State Legislature in Trumbull County.

MRS. HAZEL KRICHBAUM, Boardman will present a program of holiday designs and decorations at the Philo Class meeting at 8 tonight at the Methodist Church. Members attending are to bring guests.

Committee for the meeting includes Mrs. Pres Corey, chairman, Mrs. Wilder Foerich, Miss Cathryne Esenwein, Mrs. R. M. Gaver, Mrs. Harry McBride, Miss Lois Roller, Mrs. Hohn Heintzelman and Mrs. Harry Frankford.

Friendship Class of the Methodist Church will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at the church.

MR. AND MRS. OTTO Arsenberger of Millrun, Pa. attended the funeral Monday of Mrs. Della Stahl. Mrs. Arsenberger is a sister of Mrs. Homer Stahl.

Francis Harter of the Lazy Acres Nursing Home is able to be up after a few days in bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ueber of Slippery Rock, Pa. called on James Campbell.

Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church will meet at 8:15 tonight in the church. Installation of officers, a short skit pertaining to their duties and special music by a quartet, accompanied by Ruth Holloway, will be the entertainment.

Couple at East Rochester Honored on Anniversary

EAST ROCHESTER — Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harsh observed their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday. Their two sons, Leroy and Raymond and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Fraschel of Massillon took them out for dinner and the church choir dedicated a hymn to them.

Mrs. Ella Taylor and Mrs. Winifred Hall attended the Minerva Women's Club Friday evening.

Mrs. Nellie Neel and Mr. John Davis were visited by Mr. Wilbur Hurst Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cared Murray and Mr. Robert Harmon recently visited Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hill.

Miss Florence Mick of Columbia Park, Calif., was a weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Mick.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Guthrie of Beloit recently visited her father, Mr. John Davis.

Mr. Homer Hawkins of Minerva visited Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Smith Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bixler of Winona recently visited Mrs. Nellie Neel and Mr. John Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Richardson have returned from a vacation in Florida.

Mr. J. E. Williams of Minerva visited his sister, Mrs. Minnie Walker, Monday.

Mrs. Goldie Hinton visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brumbach of North Canton, Mo. day.

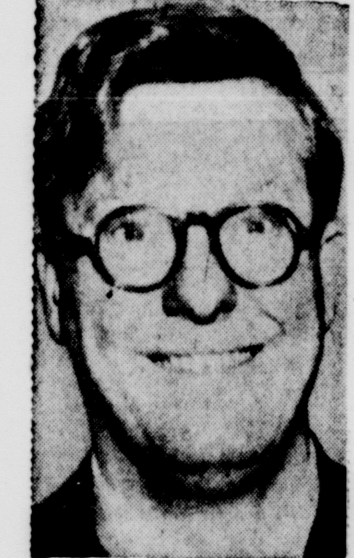

Busy Workers Sunday School Class met recently at the home of Mrs. Walter Harsh. Mrs. Althea Harsh presided, and the meeting opened with the class song and devotions by Mrs. Ella Taylor. Mrs. Pearl Smith gave the program of thanksgiving and refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Goldie Hinton. The Mizpah benediction closed the meeting. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. E. Hill.

Mrs. Gary Chilson of Minerva recently visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young.

Miss Virginia McDoll, student nurse at Aultman Hospital in Canton, spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McDoll.

Mrs. Bertha Clark of Kensington visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harsh, Saturday.

Mrs. Charlie Brant of Paintsville, Ky. visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox, recently.

Remember When

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — You've blown out a lot of candles on a lot of birthday cakes if you can look back and remember when—

It was a compliment to be called square.

Wives tried to look their best at breakfast, so husbands would go off to work with a pleasant mental picture of them.

It was widely predicted that the end of prohibition would wipe out gangsterism in America because there would be no other major source of profits for criminal mobs.

Only bankers and big businessmen wrote checks. Ordinary folks paid their bills in cash or stood in line at the post office to buy a money order.

The streets of Manhattan were alive with the tinkling music of hurdy gurdies, and the monkey doffed his hat if you gave him a nickel.

It was romantic to snuggle with your best girl on the top front seat of a doubledeck Fifth Avenue bus. These lumbering vehicles also were the delight of sightseers, but the Irish conductors hated to climb the stairs for the fares.

Every workman's lunch pail carried a liverwurst sandwich and a slab of homemade apple pie.

A juvenile delinquent was a boy who spent all his coins looking at the girlie machines in the penny arcade—and then bragged to all the other neighborhood kids how much he knew about women.

If you said a bad word, your mother promptly washed your mouth out with soap instead of worrying about whether she should take you to a psychiatrist.

Saloons had separate entrances for the ladies, who always drank in a back room.

It took more than your first pair of long pants to prove you were a real man. You also had to be able to light a kitchen match on the seat of them.

County Pupils Hold 'College Night' Event

LISBON — Approximately 250 students and 50 parents attended Columbiana County school system's "college night" Wednesday evening at the new Southern Local High School.

They were from Crestview, Beaver, United, Southern Local and Wellsville.

Each student was allowed two sessions to hear about any of the following schools — Ohio State University, Bowling Green, Kent State, Youngstown, Mt. Union, Geneva, Youngstown Hospital School of Nursing and Aultman School of Nursing, Canton.

Now... for people who'd buy a Le Mans hardtop if there were one—there is one.

"If only the Le Mans had a 6," someone said. Ahem! The standard engine is now an in-line 6 of 140 horsepower, with a pair of extra-cost V-8s for added muscle if you want it.

"If only the Le Mans were just a little bigger." And so it is. Bigger—on a new 115" wheelbase—and roomier. (And speaking of new, that's what the body and brakes and frame and suspension and steering and wheels and most other things are. Good and new.)

"If only the Le Mans came in a hardtop," someone else said. There's a planned coincidence for you. It just came. And now that we've wiped out your last possible excuse for not buying a Pontiac Le Mans, how about it?

Salem High Basketball Team Pared To 37 Players

2 Scrimmages Set For Next Week

"We are now down to 37 players and plan to cut still more," said John Cabas as he discussed Salem High School's varsity basketball program Wednesday. The veteran coach has been teaching this year's young squad the man-for-man and fast break offenses during workouts the past several days.

"We have a tentative scrimmage scheduled here with Howland next Wednesday, and we have our work cut out for us to prepare for the session," declared Cabas.

A week from Saturday, the Quakers will drill with Farrell, Pa., and Canton South here. Both units will provide Salem with the kind of opposition it is to face in several key games during the 1963-64 campaign.

Right off the bat, the Quakers will get an acid test from defending state champion Columbus East in the lid-lifter here Dec. 7.

REBUILDING, Cabas has been working with four juniors and a senior, who at the present time appear to have a slight inside track for the starting positions.

But the Salem mentor is quick to point out that no one has a position sewed up and if they think they do, they are only fooling themselves.

Wayne "Binks" Washington

is the only senior drilling with the prospective initial unit. The juniors, who Cabas says have shown much improvement over last year are Dean Keller, 5-9, who can dunk; Rick Gregg, 5-9; Dennis Everhart, 6-2 and Chuck Joseph, 6-0.

"Art Spack, 6-0, who has also come a long way, could move into the post for us," said Cabas. He is one of the three seniors on the team.

George Begalla, 6-0, is probably the strongest player. Most of the opposition moves aside when the 209-lb. athlete drives in for a lay-up shot. Last season, Begalla saw limited action with the varsity. He finished the campaign with 10 points.

BEGALLA WAS the top scorer on the reserve squad with 202 points a year ago.

Cabas has also been pleased with his sophomores. He has inserted Rick Klepper, 5-10; Gary Stoddard, 6-0; Doug Plastow, 5-10 and Jim Lantz, 6-1; into the varsity lineup during most of the drills so far.

"We have come a long way since the first practice, but it was because we had such a long way to come," commented the Salem mentor.

The Quakers' pilot is looking for a prolific scorer. He thinks there is potential on the squad and with a few breaks that the Quakers could be tough.

Delaware Clings To No. 1 Spot In Poll

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Delaware clung to the top rung of the small college football ladder today, but there is a tough hurdle-Bucknell-ahead.

If Delaware can beat Bucknell, which threw an early season scare into Dartmouth, the Blue Hens will have a good shot at the small college championship, which will be awarded in next week's final poll.

Delaware whipped Rutgers 14-3 for its eighth straight last Saturday, and drew five of the eight first-place votes from a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Two votes went to Northern Illinois, which has completed its season with a 9-0 record. The other No. 1 vote went to Southwest Texas.

Delaware collected 73 points, on a 10-9-8 — etc. basis, with Northern Illinois second with 70. Wittenberg had 44 for third and Massachusetts 35 for fourth.

The top four held their places. Florida AM jumped from seventh to fifth, and McNeese State moved up a notch to eighth. The only newcomer to the Top Ten was Abilene Christian, 21-3 winner over McMurray. Slippery Rock fell out of the Top Ten after losing to West Chester, Pa., Teachers 36-7.

Northern Illinois, Wittenberg, Massachusetts and St. John's have completed their seasons. The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis

Bears Leclerc Named NFL Player of Week

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears' Roger Leclerc, who missed his only field goal try in college, was left almost speechless today by his selection as the Associated Press' National League Player of the Week for his booting prowess against the Green Bay Packers.

"The honor makes me so excited, I don't know what to say," said the four-year Bear veteran, whose four field goals helped shove the Bears to a 26-7 conquest of the Packers last Sunday.

Leclerc, who also is a member of what he describes the Kamkaze punting and kickoff units, also recovered a fumble by Herb Adderley on a kickoff return which led to a 27-yard touchdown run by Willie Gaiimore.

Galimore's touchdown capped a 13-point Bear first quarter effort, which really softened up the favored Packers for their second trimming of the season by the Bears.

But Leclerc was a booting matador all afternoon, punctuating the Packers with field goals of 29, 46, 19 and 35 yards. His first two kicks gave the Bears a 6-0 lead. His third made it 16-0 and his fourth left Green Bay behind 19-0 early in the fourth period.

"I was real nervous on the first two kicks," said the former star center for Trinity of Connecticut. "A lot had been written about how this big game might be decided by field goals. I was worried about being smacked by the kiss of death."

Leclerc practices about three hours a week with defensive back Dave Whitsell holding. At Trinity, Leclerc kicked off and booted extra points.

"I only tried one field goal at Trinity," Leclerc recalled. "In the closing minutes of a tie game with Denison in my senior year, I tried on a 30-yarder and it fell short."

Ryan Says He May Have Lost Recklessness

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I may have lost some of the recklessness of the early games," is a theory advanced by quarterback Frank Ryan on why the Cleveland Browns' offense has bogged down in three of their last four games.

"This game requires at least a little bit of recklessness," Ryan said Wednesday.

Ryan rode the bench in last Sunday's 20-14 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals as Jim Ninowski went all the way.

Looking to next Sunday's game here against Dallas, Coach Blanton Collier said "there may be some adjustments in personnel. We'll make any changes we think necessary to win."

Those changes weren't announced but all indications point to the return of Ryan, who has been at the helm in all seven of Cleveland's victories and two of its three losses.

Kansas Back Is Averaging 6.1 Yards a Carry

Sayers, Nation's Rushing Leader, Saves Top Effort For Best Teams

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Associated Press Sports Writer

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Gale Sayers, the Kansas phantom who leads the nation in rushing, is an instinctive football runner who thinks with his feet, saves his best efforts for the best teams and scorns low-cut shoes.

"I don't think when I come to a tackler... fake one way and cut the other," Sayers said. "I really don't know how I do it."

The elusive 202-pound junior from Omaha, Neb., has broken loose for 849 yards in nine games. His average of 6.1 yards a carry equal his nation-leading average of 1962, when he was No. 3 in rushing with 1,125 yards.

The Jayhawks have used him more often as decoy this season than last, to open up the middle when the other team shifts to stop him. He isn't carrying the ball quite as much, but he has saved his biggest days and plays for the best teams—a 99-yarder at Nebraska and 61-yarder at Oklahoma.

"This boy is an All-America halfback if there ever was one," Coach Jack Mitchell said. "In a one-on-one situation, he is without equal. He can cut at a right angle without losing speed."

Sayers' spurning of low-cuts may be a shock to other aspiring young speed-burners. Sayers wears old-fashioned high-tops, has ever since he hurt an ankle slightly in the opener against TCU.

"They protect your ankle a little," he said. "The added weight of two ounces is all in your mind—it's not going to slow me down."

Cassady Signs To Finish NFL Season With Lions As Back

By RON WILSON

DETROIT (AP) — Old professional football players don't fade away. They just wait on the other side of that hill they supposedly went over for an SOS from a problem-plagued team.

Howard (Hopalong) Cassady is the latest example. Released by the Philadelphia Eagles before the current season began, the 29-year-old Cassady is returning to the National Football League with his first club—the Detroit Lions.

Other old pros who came to mind are Ralph Gugliemi, Jim Martin, Joe Perry and Bobby Layne.

Cassady barely had agreed to take a job with the Ohio Youth Commission when the Lions pushed the panic button Wednesday. They signed him as a free agent and announced that Hopalong would finish the season as a defensive back.

The Lions secondary has been shredded by injuries to Yale Lary, Gary Lowe, Dick (Night Train) Lane, and Dick Compton.

Cassady, a former All-America at Ohio State, was a Lion star for six years, working mainly out of the pass-catching flanker slot. Traded away, Cassady ran into bad luck. He suffered a broken leg with the Philadelphia Eagles last season and was cut from the squad earlier this year.

He has accepted an appointment with the Ohio Youth Commission as a $10,000-a-year administrative assistant and is expected to start on that job next month after finishing with the Lions.

The Lions had their own precedent for the Layne and Cassady moves. In 1959, they brought lineman Lou Creekmur out of retirement. And before the 1963 season began, retired kicker Jim Martin donned his old togs in Detroit. But he soon was shipped to Baltimore.

Perry is another retread still seeing action while bouncing in and out of the NFL. He's back with the San Francisco 49ers, the club he broke in with. Perry spent some time with Baltimore before returning to the 49ers.

Gugliemi quit when the New York Giants traded him to the 49ers. Then he signed with Philadelphia.

Jim Beecham Refuses To Show Up For Bout

WEIRTON, W.Va. (AP) — A scheduled 10-round middleweight boxing bout between Jimmy Beecham of Philadelphia and Bobby Worthem of Buffalo was called off Wednesday night when Beecham refused to fight, Promoter Don Elbaum said.

Elbaum said Beecham refused to fight because he wasn't picked up at his hotel in neighboring Steubenville, Ohio, as has been arranged.

Wilson Voted Week's Top Star In AFL

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Wilson, a bench warmer who never started a game until Hank Stram shook up his Kansas City club, was named The Associated Press' Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Wilson took over when Stram benched Len Dawson Sunday at Boston in a desperate attempt to shake the Chiefs out of their losing spin. They didn't lose, but they didn't win either, winding up with a 24-24 tie. It was the first time they hadn't lost in their last six games.

The 22-year-old former Arizona quarterback completed 20 of 32 passes for 258 yards and two touchdowns. He was not intercepted, and he did not panic under the Beantown Blitz from the Patriots.

Trailing late in the final period, Wilson engineered a 71-yard drive in nine plays that climaxed with a 26-yard touchdown pass to Curt McClinton.

Lance Alworth, last week's star, caught four passes for 79 yards and one San Diego touchdown and George Blair kicked three field goals for the Chargers in a 23-13 victory over Buffalo. Blair's kicks were from 39, 15 and 41 yards, the last icing the game.

End Al Grigaliunas Is Key To Powerful Pitts' Success

By LOU PRATO

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If you're looking for a secret behind the sudden revival of Pitt as a major football power this year, you'd have to go further than the onfield exploits of Paul Marth and Fred Mazurek.

Martha, the speedy halfback, and Mazurek, the flashy quarterback, have grabbed the headlines for their clutch performances in boosting the Panthers to a 7-1 record and No. 5 ranking in the nation.

But the key to Pitt's success is a relatively unknown senior end named Al Grigaliunas, who serves as team captain. For without the leadership of the gutty Lithuanian immigrant, it's doubtful the Panthers would even be near a possible post-season bowl invitation.

"I don't think there's any question about his value to this team," said Frank Carver, the Pitt athletic director who has been appraising Pitt players since his undergraduate days in the 1930s. "He's the finest captain I've seen at Pitt since Joe Schmidt."

Schmidt, who has gone on to greater fame as an all-pro line-backer with the Detroit Lions, was the Pitt captain in 1952. Carver's comparison takes on even greater significance when one realizes that Joe Walton of the New York Giants and Mike Ditka of the Chicago Bears also followed in Schmidt's footsteps.

Martha, touted by Carver as the greatest Pitt back in 25 years, makes no secret of his admiration and respect for Grigaliunas.

"In the past few years we've had some dissension on our team, and the captains haven't done a thing about it," Martha said. "But Al has put some fight into us. The guys respect him for the way he acts and the way he handles himself."

Mazurek, a junior who could be Grigaliunas' successor, agreed adamantly with Martha.

Chevy II Nova 4-Door Sedan

Now—'64 Chevy II...

with a V8 engine

Now you see it. Now you don't. When a Chevy II does that kind of disappearing act you know without looking twice: It's a '64 with a V8 engine.

That's right. A full-grown 195-hp Turbo-Fire V8.*

It's available for the first time this year along with a choice of three other engines—the standard 4 (in 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6.* (And all of them maintain their high spirits on modest amounts of regular gasoline.)

But the changes aren't confined to what happens when you slip into the driver's seat.

There are new styling features like the tasteful grille design and trim accents, for instance. And the larger self-adjusting brakes that further reduce upkeep on a car that already has a reputation of coming about as close to perpetual motion as anything on four wheels can get.

The place to get the full details on the '64 is your Chevrolet dealer's. And after you've got them, we hope you'll attend to one further detail yourself. Drive it.

Youngstown Man's Signal Extortion Trial Nears Completion

CLEVELAND (AP) — The government neared an end to its case today against Samuel S. Fekett, former Youngstown city law director, after placing in evidence a $750 check it charges Fekett extorted from a contractor doing a city job.

The check dated June 30, 1960, was made out to and endorsed by Fekett and was drawn on the account of Syro Steel Co. of Girard.

Charles Syak, head of Syro Steel, said he authorized the check, along with Syak, and gave it to Nick DiMaggio to deliver.

DiMaggio, an engineer for Syro Steel, testified he gave the check to Fekett as part payment of a $1,500 "legal fee."

All three witnesses-Syak, Eny-eart and DiMaggio — testified Wednesday that Fekett did no legal work for Syro Steel.

Syro Steel held a sub-contract from Pillorosso Construction Co. of Girard to furnish steel pipe for the city's $79,844 Kirk-mere Creek sewer culvert project.

SUNDAY LAW VIOLATORS

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Four managers of Lawson Milk Co. stores entered no-contest pleas and were fined $25 and costs Wednesday in Elyria Municipal Court on charges of violating Ohio's Sunday closing laws. The four had been arrested two years ago and had entered inno-cent pleas.

Mrs. Phillip Binkney of Elco, Pa. is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Huey.

I have been asked to mention the Music Boosters will present a Minstrel Show at the Fairfield School building this Friday night, November 22nd at 8 o'clock.

The charge, only 75c for adults and 35c for the little ones.

Two of our children attend Fairfield School. In fact I spent thirteen years there myself. My third grade teacher liked me so well she kept me two years. Even though I was just about the most stupid one in my class, I would have made it if I hadn't been off sick the last ten weeks that year.

Ready-to-Go Reserve Air Force Chief's Aim

ROBINS AIR FORCE BASE, Ga. (AP)—Blunt, aggressive Lt. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, a militarist who talks about saving money for the taxpayer, wants a solid ready-to-go Air Force Reserve even if it means cutting down on size.

He wants to realign the 319,000-man reserve along state lines, to set up a career incentive program and streamline training methods.

"I want to get away from this numbers racket and get into the business of maximum performance," said Timberlake who has been chief of the complex Continental Air Command—CONAC—for little more than a year.

"If there's another war, we're just as likely to have a battlefield here in Iowa as elsewhere," Timberlake said.

Timberlake proposes to replace 16 continental area headquarters with 48 state sectors in the hope of creating a more tightly knit reserve force. He plans to take his proposal to the Pentagon this month.

The 51-year-old general, a war veteran and former Pentagon officer, gave his views in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press at command headquarters at this bustling base in central Georgia.

Timberlake explained his plan. It centers around the 168,000 reservists designated ready in Air Force terminology; the reserve is composed of 120,000 in the standby ground and 31,000 retired.

The ready force is susceptible to call-up in an emergency on orders of the President; it takes an act of Congress to mobilize the standby.

During the Cuban crisis, 14,000 ready reservists were mobilized; 5,000 were called up during the Berlin blockade.

About 24,000 are in flying units operating daily. Reservists fly 52 per cent of the Army's parachute jump training missions. Another 29,000 are in nonflying support units.

That leaves 10,000 men who are classified as "mobilization assignees"—individuals, some of them located where there is no reserve unit.

With their headquarters often in another state, these men feel no sense of cohesiveness, Timberlake said.

"Take a reservist in Alabama under control of a sector which is headquartered in Tampa, Fla. He doesn't feel he's a part of anything," Timberlake said.

Under his proposal, reserve headquarters would be set up in each of the continental states with active duty detachments staffing the headquarters as advisors.

"This way I could take all of the nonflying units and individuals and assign them to state headquarters," he said. "This way, I feel I would get the cohesiveness we need."

"If we had a solid ready-to-go force of 100,000 to 110,000, then we would be a lot better off than we would be with 200,000 or 168,000—some of which are ready and some not."
